

4. A 4 years old child presented to emergency room with left painful, unilateral reddish swollen lid associated with outwards proptosis. He was admitted to hospital and have treatment with marked improvement after 3 days and discharged as per parents request. Two days later the same condition recurs with more marked fever, proptosis, defective vision and limitation of ocular motility in different gazes.
- a) What are the most probable diagnoses?
 - b) Which diagnostic tools you suggest to help diagnosis?
 - c) What are the expected complications?
 - d) What are possible treatment options?

B. MCOs:

(50 Marks)